Message From The Commander, Jason Coffman

Confederate Patriots,

The Hughes Camp was at two events since the last meeting. The Lathrop Missouri Antique Tractor Show and the Excelsior Springs Water Festival. The Camp did pretty well at both events with recruiting and selling merchandise. There was a few uneducated Marxists with snide remarks but you will have that. I would like to thank Tim Borron from Hughes Camp and Danny Claycomb of the Cravens Camp in Gallatin Missouri for helping out at the Lathrop event.

The Excelsior Springs Water Festival was a first for Hughes Camp and it was bigger than anticipated. The Camp will participate next year at this event definitely. I would like to thank Larry Yeatman, Sam Stanton, and Dwayne Holtzclaw of Hughes Camp for helping at this very successful event. I would also like to thank Stephen Whitson of the Cravens Camp in Gallatin Missouri for helping the Hughes Camp breakdown Saturday night when the event was over with. Look for pictures of these two events in this issue of the Hughes Camp News.

On Saturday July 14th Cravens Camp is participating in the Chillicothe Missouri Car Show. I am going to help them out. If you would like to attend this event let me know.

If you have any tickets that were sold for our friends in the MOS&B please bring the proceeds to the meeting. I will see you all at the meeting at the Courthouse Exchange.

Last, it's dues renewal time. Larry has included renewal notices for those that are up for renewal.

Yours in the Bonds of Confederate Brotherhood,
Jason-Nathaniel: coffman

Annual Renewal Time Coming Up!

It's that time of a year again to pay dues, and they don't give us much lee way these days. They are like me, in that they don't want to drag the process out for months! If you could, please take the time now to write and return a check right away. Dues are due to HQ on August 1.

Thanks as always, your membership is important! You know what all is going on these days, and the SCV needs to retain and grow it's membership, so that one day, we can hopefully get the politicians attention. When we get as big as the NRA, then we can lobby and they'll have to listen to us.

If the SCV still had every member that is still alive that has joined in the past, they say we would have close to a million members! Imagine what a force we would be! So send in yours dues and let's keep this party growing and going!

June 14th Meeting...

At this meeting, the Camp voted to send $1000 to the Missouri Flag Pole fund. Also, 2 members contributed $150 while there at the meeting, so the next day I did mail a check to the Missouri Division for $1150. Good job men, and I believe the pole has now been ordered, although we settled for a 70" pole in lieu of the 100' pole we really wanted. But this is our first pole in Missouri, and hopefully it will be contagious!

Our speaker was Diane Magness, who's topic was New information about Cole Youngers Family members. Diane worked for Cass County Historical Society for years and loves history in general. She used to live on what was part of the Younger Farm. That land once belonged to Henry Younger.

Diane told us about Coleman Younger, not to be confused with Cole Younger, the nephew of Coleman. And Coleman's father, Charley Younger. Charley followed Daniel Boone into Missouri about 1808 and settled in St. Charles, MO. From there, he just started buying land in Missouri, constantly moving west along the river and Little Dixie. Coleman, the son, became a Mo. State Rep for Clay County in 1844. He had a ton of different wives and children with those wives. Seemed his wives died a lot. He eventually ended up in California. When his father, Charley became sick, he wrote Coleman and asked him to return to Missouri and take over his land. Coleman turned him down!

Thanks for speaking to us Diane!

This month we celebrate our 242nd anniversary of national independence. Nationalism ascended in the 18th century when the ideas of political philosophers such as John Locke influenced men like Jefferson and Paine and found expression in the Declaration of Inde-spread across Europe in the 19th century and reached Asia and Africa by the 20th century.

Social organization began with tribalism and feudalism which evolved into nationalism through the establishment of monarchies and republics. In the 21st century there is an aggressive movement to replace nationalism with regionalism as the next step toward the ultimate goal of globalism or one-world-government. The concept of globalism is not new; it is traced back through history to Nimrod and his kingdom of Babel. (Gen. 10:8; 11:1) The social, political, and economic forces behind regionalism and globalism have religious overtones that will culminate with the Anti-Christ when "...no man can buy or sell unless he has the mark, that is, the name of the beast or the number of its name." (Rev. 13:17) With the demise of empires, regionalism became more of a political movement organized under the guise of economics through international trade agreements such as NAFTA. These treaties are administered by non-elected officials from member nations who enact and enforce regulations that supercede national independence and reach beyond free trade to redistribute national wealth and interfere with internal political and social affairs of nations. The EU is an example. The Treaty of Rome (1957) established the European Economic Community (EEC) for economic integration, concentrating on coal and steel. The Common Market removed trade barriers for the free flow of capital, labor, goods, and services. The Maastricht Treaty (1993) absorbed the EEC which ceased to exist in 2009. Ultimately, member nations have lost control over their own currencies, economies, defense, borders, immigration policies, application of moral values, etc. It is the imposition of this model that is planned for North and South America. With similar trade agreements made in Asia, nationalism will be weakened, allowing for the final absorption of trading regions into a global economic, political, and religious system.

The formation of the CSA by our Confederate ancestors was abhorrent to the globalists of that day and partially explains why the CSA was attacked and destroyed with such vehement ferocity. Before 1776, Americans developed their own national culture that gave them unique and identifiable characteristics different from Europeans. In a similar situation, long before 1861, southerners began to naturally form their own national traits unique from the North. All of the forces used to destroy nationalism today were used against the South. Subjugation by force is the most blatant means, followed by more subtle methods. Indoctrination, aimed primarily at youth, revises history, disseminates fake news, and infiltrates education. Attrition allows for the passing of one generation to be replaced by another that has been indoctrinated. Unnatural integration, immigration, and miscegenation amalgamate people of different cultures, not with the intention of melding them together into one nationality, but of establishing parallel and conflicting cultures with the plan to form one global mass populace.

Globalism is one reason why the protection of religious liberty under the First Amendment has been attacked. Recently, the mayor of San Antonio, Texas, tried to violate freedom of religion and speech by attempting to censor pastors' homilies. The original intent of the Founding Fathers was to protect religious freedom from government interference. Using smoke and mirrors, enemies of Christianity seek to reverse the image of that original intent in order to prevent the influence of Christianity on all sectors of life in the US. We should pray for God's blessing, guidance, and protection of our nation and strengthen the bonds of community through the association of Christian values and morals with good citizenship.

To be Christian and patriotic are not conflicting terms. During the American Revolution, the Minutemen were usually members of a local church. Citizen soldiers frequently retired from the parade-ground to their churches to pray and hear homilies.

So many of the clergy conducted military drills and served as soldiers and officers that the British called them the Black Regiment. In 1775, Congress passed the Articles of War to govern the Continental Army that stated, "It is earnestly recommended to all officers and soldiers diligently to attend Divine service..." In 1776, Congress authorized chaplains in the Continental Army and Washington ordered chaplains to be appointed for each regiment. Most of the Founding Fathers were members of Christian congregations and appendant Christian organizations. For example, Chief Justices Jay and Marshall belonged to the American Bible Society. Francis S. Key not only wrote the national anthem but belonged to the American Sunday School Union. During the WBTS, patriotic Christian Confederates also served their God and country. They were men like Bishop Leonidas Polk, known as Sewanee's fighting bishop, who led several campaigns and died in battle. Fr. John Bannon, known for his bravery on the battlefield, served in the First Missouri Confederate Brigade.

Christianity is America's first and best defense of nationalism against globalism. If we are wise, we will obey God's admonition to Solomon that "...if My people who are called by My name humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from Heaven, and forgive their sin and heal their land." (II Chron. 7:14) St. Paul wrote, "For freedom Christ has set us free; stand fast therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery." (Gal. 5:1) As Christian patriots, we are to resist the yoke of globalism by constant and faithful adherence to the Gospel and the liberty it brings to us.

Correction on last month's cover ...

So on last month's cover, I said that the two young men that were pictured we're two unknown Missouri Guerilla fighters. And then further wrongly noted their Guerilla shirts, which are actually Battleshirts. Which I should know that and do! Guess I forgot!

Well both Jean Warren at James Country Mercantile, as well as John Moloski of our Camp, emailed me to make those two young men's identities known!

Per Jean:

"It is the featured photo on the front of the book "Wilson's Creek", published by U of North Carolina Press. It was owned at the time by Dr. Tom and Karen Sweeney, who operated Sweeney's Museum down by the battlefield, before they sold the collection to the battlefield.

The photo is of the DuVall brothers from Ray County - 3 brothers fought at Wilson's Creek; 2 survived and 1 died. These are typical western Missouri/Missouri state guard battleshirts that were worn by the State Guard during battles of Lexington, Wilson's Creek, Carthage, etc."

Jean

So Let's give the DuVall brothers their just recognition!

The Battleshirts pictured, were used by Missouri boys early in the war, while still in the Missouri State Guard. Not sure how long they were used though once the MSG was disbanded. But the shirts were handy as they had large pockets. The DuValls look like a couple of studs though and Salute to them for being brave young men!
